PREFACE.

THE Dutch language being a collateral of the Modern German, there is considerable similarity between them, both having originated in the one form of construction, viz., old High German, and both having the same root words. This close relationship will naturally be found of great assistance to the student who, having a knowledge of either language, desires to learn the other.

The present manual is designed for students, and for those whose business or pleasure renders a practical acquaintance with the language a necessity, or at any rate a desideratum. Merchants, professional and commercial men visiting Holland or its dependencies, and travellers, officials, and settlers in South Africa will find it of great service and value. Dutch as spoken in Holland has been adhered to, for I found, whilst serving with the South African Field Force, that this is generally understood by the Boers and the Cape Dutch; moreover, it is this parent tongue that is being taught in the Government schools both in the Transvaal and the Orange River Colony. The very full outline of Grammar that forms a special and important feature of the work, will prove most helpful to the student and all who desire to master the language.

The phonetic or third column will be found to give, at a glance, the pronunciation of the Dutch words in the second column, as they are spoken by the educated classes in Holland. This is accomplished by means of MARLBOROUGH'S SYSTEM OF PHONETICS, as employed throughout their Series of "Self-Taught" Manuals. The system is so simple that those previously unacquainted with either Dutch or German can, with its aid, make themselves readily understood.

It is hoped that by facilitating the study and acquisition of the language, this Manual may help to strengthen the commercial and social ties between Great Britain and Holland, and also between the British and their Dutch fellow-subjects in South Africa.

In conclusion, I gladly acknowledge my indebtedness to MISS W. KLINKERT, of Amsterdam, for her valuable services in revising the proofs.

The Alphabet with Phonetic Pronunciation.

The Dutch Alphabet has 26 letters :—

Characters.	Name and English Pronunciation.	Phonetics used.
A, a —	( ah ) is either long or short .* When long, it is like a in father , as laden [lah'de(r)n] † When short, it has the same sound cut short, as brand [bra(h)nt]	... ah ... a(h)
B, b —	( bay ) when final, is like p , as tob (top) otherwise as in English	... p ... b
C, c —	( say ) before a, o, u , is like k , as canapé (kahnahpay) before e, i, ij, z, ei , is like s , as civiel (seeveel)	... k ... s
Ch, ch —	( ch ) has no corresponding sound in English. It is a guttural aspirate resembling the ch in the Scotch word loch , but is much sharper, as macht [ma(h)cht]	... ch
D, d —	( day ) at the end of a word is like t , as pad [pa(h)t] otherwise as in English	... t ... d
E, e —	( ay ) when long is like ay in day , as zeven [zayfe(r)n] when short, it is like e in men , as vet (fet)	... ay ... e
NOTE. — At the end of a word, and in the prefixes be, ge, ver , and the suffixes el, em, en, er , it is like e in garden , as koude [kowde(r)], geladen [ge(r)lah'den]
F, f —	( ef ) as in English	... f
G, g —	( gay ) has no corresponding sound in English; it is a heavy guttural sound at the end of a word it is pronounced like ch (see above), as mag [ma(h)ch]	... g ... ch

* For rules relating to long and short vowels, see p. 10.

† E(r) represents the sound of e as in term; the (r) is added (where necessary) in the phonetics, merely in order to give the e this sound—not to lengthen it—and must itself remain unheard.

Characters.	Name and English Pronunciation.	Phonetics used.
H, h —	( hah ) at the beginning of a word or syllable is always aspirated, as hagel ( hah'gel ) After t it is silent, as thans [ ta(h)nss ].	... h
I, i —	( ee ) when long, like ee in deep , as ivoor ( ee'-vohr ) ... .. when short, like i in pin , as wit ( wit )...	... ee ... i
J, j —	( yay ) like y in yet , as ja ( yah ) ...	... y
K, k —	( kah ) as in English, and always sounded before n , as knie ( k-nee ) ... ..	... k
L, l —	( el ) as in English ... ..	... l
M, m —	( em ) as in English ... ..	... m
N, n —	( en ) as in English ... ..	... n
O, o —	( oh ) when long, like o in sole , as doren ( doh'ren ) ... .. when short, like o in not , as los ( loss ) ...	... oh ... o
P, p —	( pay ) as in English ... ..	... p
Q, q —	( keu ) like k , as bouquet ( boo'ket ) ...	... k
R, r —	( err ) is pronounced with greater vibration than in English, and is never silent ...	... r
S, s —	( ess ) is a sharp sibilant, like ss in loss , as mes ( mess ); never like z , as in lose ...	... s, ss
T, t —	( tay ) as in English ... ..	... t
U, u —	( eu ) is like the French u , pronounced by forming the lips into a circle (as for whistling), and sounding “ eu ” as one sound . Ex.: huren [ heu'ren ] ... .. When between two consonants, it is like u in mud , as juk ( yuk ) ... ..	... eu ... u
V, v —	( fay ) is like a soft f , as verdek [ fe(r)rdek' ] ...	... f
W, w —	( vay ) is something like the English w , but the upper teeth should touch the lower lip in pronouncing it. Ex.: wijf ( weyf ) ...	... w
X, x —	( eks ) as in English ... ..	... x
Z, z —	( zed ) as in English ... ..	... z

NOTE.—C, Q, and X only occur in words borrowed from other languages.

Vowels, Diphthongs, Gutturals, &c.

The Vowels are employed as SIMPLE VOWELS, and also to form DIPHTHONGS.

The SIMPLE VOWELS are Single and Double, viz., a, aa; e, ee; (-), eu; i, ie; o, oo; u, uu; also (-), oe.

For the Single Vowels see pp. 6 and 7; the Double Vowels are as follows:—

					Phonetics used.
aa	like a in father , as raad (raht) ...	...	...	...	ah
ee	„ ay in day , as deel (dayl) ...	...	...	...	ay
ie	like ee in deep , as diep (deep) ...	...	...	...	ee
oo	„ o in go , as vroom (frohm) ...	...	...	...	oh
uu	„ u when long (see “Alphabet”), as natuur (nahtēur) ...	...	...	...	ēu
eu	something like u in turn [not so open as e(r) , and longer]; better, like German ö , as neus [nu(r)ss] ...	...	...	...	u, u(r)
oe	like oo in food , as boek (boo'k) ...	...	...	...	oo

The DIPHTHONGS are au, ou, ei, ij, ui, aai, eeu, oei, ooi, ieu, pronounced as follows:—

au } ou }	like ow in cow , as { rauw (row) ... koud (kowt) ... }	...	...	...	ow
ei	has no exact counterpart in English; it is somewhat like ey in they , very lightly pronounced, as meid (meyt) ...	...	...	...	ey
ij	= ei (see above), as dijk (deyk) ... In the ending lijk(s) , ij is like e in term , as dagelijks [dahgele(r)ks] ...	...	...	...	ey e(r)
ui	like oy in toy , lightly and quickly passed over, as huis (hoys) ...	...	...	...	oy
aai	= aa + i short, which see, as maaien [mah'i- e(r)n] ...	...	...	...	ah'i
oei	= oe + i short, which see, as moei (moo'i) ...	...	...	...	oo'i
ooi	= oo + i short, which see, as hooi (hoh'i) ...	...	...	...	oh'i

used.

eeu }	These diphthongs are always followed by w , and the u in each is silent, so that we get:—
ieu }
	eeuw = ee + w , as leeuw (lay'w)	...	... ay'w
	ieuw = ie + w , as nieuw (nee'w)	...	... ee'w

NOTE.—(1) When eeuw or ieuw is followed by another syllable, the w is joined on to this syllable, as leeuwerik (lay'werik).

(2) Uw, as in zwaluw, = u long + w; thus zwaluw is pronounced—zwa(h)lēuw.

GUTTURALS, &amp;c.:—

g and ch .	These gutturals have the same sound at the end of a word, but must not be confounded, as they have different meanings; e.g., ligt (licht), lies (verb); licht (licht), light (noun)	... ..	ch
sch ,	at the beginning of a word, is pronounced as s and ch joined, as schip ( schip )	... ..	sch
	In the middle or at the end of a word, it is pronounced very like s , as tusschen [tus'se(r)n], bosch (boss)	... ..	s , ss
th	is pronounced like t , as thans [ta(h)nss]	... ..	t
ng	is a soft, one-consonant , nasal sound, pronounced like ng in thing . It should never be divided into two sounds , as in finger , hunger , &c.; e.g., vinger [fing'e(r)r]	... ..	ng

PRELIMINARY NOTES.

Pronunciation.—The student is recommended to familiarize himself at the outset with the few points in connection with the pronunciation of Dutch which present any difficulty, viz., the gutturals g and ch, and the diphthongs ei, ij, ui, and eu. The phonetic signs g and ch convey no adequate idea of the gutturals, which should, if possible, be learned from a native of Holland. The same plan would be advantageous as regards ei, ij, ui, and eu, although their pronunciation is much simpler (see p. 8).

It is best to learn the Vocabularies and Conversations by heart, by repeating them aloud, following the pronunciation in the third column. Thus the tongue becomes expert in forming the words and the ear familiar with the sounds.

NOTE.—(1) Sometimes a consonant is doubled in the phonetics to keep the preceding vowel short, as blind (blinnt).

(2) Ig is pronounced "e(r)g (or e(r)ch)", as in twintig [twinte(r)ch].

(3) Ir is like "ir" in "mirror," NOT as in "bird"; the phonetic sign used is ir (italics), as firma (fir'mah).

Accent.—1. In words of more than one syllable the stress is laid mostly on the root syllable, as in prevelen [pray'fe(r)le(r)n].

2. Prefixes are accented, as in aartsbisschop (ahrts'bissop), antwoord [a(h)nt'wohrt], ondank [on'da(h)nk].

EXCEPTIONS: Be, ge, er, her, ont, ver; as in betalen [be(r)-tah'le(r)n], gelooven [ge(r)loh'fe(r)n].

3. Suffixes are NOT accented; as in bedelaar [bay'de(r)lahr], lomperd [lom'pe(r)rt], kinderlijk [kin'de(r)rle(r)k], &c.

EXCEPTIONS: Eel, egge, ei, es, ij, in, ier—which are accented; as in houweel (howayl'), prinses (prinsess'), &c.

N.B.—The accented syllable is marked in the phonetics by the apostrophe ('), as above. In many Dutch words the accentuation follows the English or falls naturally, and the mark is omitted.

Long and Short Vowels.—I. DOUBLE VOWELS are always long, as paard (pahrt), stroom (strohm).

II. SINGLE VOWELS are long or short, viz.:—

(a) Long at the end of a syllable, as mager [mah-ger], olifant [oh-lee-fa(h)nt], EXCEPT at the end of a word, as stille [stille(r)], kraai (krah'i), violtje [fee-ohlt'ye(r)].

(b) Short—

(1) between two consonants in the same syllable, as redde [red-de(r)n], kost (kosst), artisjok [a(h)r-tis-yok];

(2) in prefixes and suffixes, as gezang [ge(r)-za(h)ng], bezwijmen [be(r)-zweyme(r)n];

(3) before ch, as lucht (lucht), licht (licht).

NOTE.—A single CONSONANT commences a syllable, as eten [ay-te(r)n—not ayt-e(r)n], papegaai [pah-pe(r)-gah'i], zeeboezem [zay-boo-ze(r)m].

Where two consonants occur in the middle of a word, the syllables are divided between them, as vallen [fa(h)l'-len], donder [don'-de(r)r], EXCEPT when the preceding syllable is merely a PREFIX ending in a vowel, as geblijf [ge(r)-blaf(h)l'f].

Rules of Spelling.—1. The vowels a, e, o, u are written single at the end of a syllable, when accented, as va'der, ste'den, lo'ven, mu'ren; EXCEPT in a number of words which have ee, and others which have oo, as hee'ten, koo'pen, &c.

2. l is written single in the suffix isch, as godisch.

3. The double vowels ee, oo, ie are written

(a) At the end of words of one syllable; as zee, stroo, drie.

(b) In suffixes; as houweelen, Europeesche, werkelooze, massief, graniet.

4. Some words are written with either a single or double vowel, according to the meaning, as gene (that), geene (no); hopen (to hope), hoopen (heaps); kolen (coals), koolen (cabbages), &c.

ELEMENTARY GRAMMAR.

The Dutch language has ten parts of speech:—

The Articles. (Lidwoorden.)

There are two Articles, the DEFINITE and the INDEFINITE.

There are three Genders—masculine (M.), feminine (F.), and neuter (N.), and four Cases—Nominative (N.), Genitive (G.), Dative (D.), and Accusative (A.)

GENERAL RULE.—Each gender has its own form of declension in the singular; in the plural there is no distinction between the genders.

DECLENSION.

The Definite Article.

Singular:	M.	F.	N.	Plural for all genders.
N. the	de	de	het	de
G. of the	des	der	des	der
D. to the	den	de	het	den
A. the	den	de	het	de .

The Indefinite Article.

Singular:	M.	F.	N.
N. a, an	een	een(e)	een	* These endings are never used in the spoken language, and seldom in the written.
G. of a, of an	eens	eener	eens
D. to a, to an	een(en*)	een(e*)	een
A. a, an	een(en*)	een(e*)	een .

NOTE.—The definite article is often used in Dutch, where there is no article in English, as: Van de hand in de tand, from hand to mouth.

There are phrases, however, in which the definite article used in English is not used in Dutch, as: Piano spelen, to play the piano.

The Noun. (Het zelfstandig naamwoord.)

GENDER.

Masculine Nouns are:—

- (a) Names of males, when there is a separate name for the male; when not, names of great animals are masculine, as olifant (m.), elephant, and those of small animals are feminine, as muis (f.), mouse.
- (b) names of seasons [EXCEPT Lente (f.), Spring], months, and days [EXCEPT the compounds with month and year: Meimaand (f.), month of May; voorjaar (n.), spring].
- (c) names of trees [EXCEPT Linde (f.), lime tree, and tamarinde (f.), tamarind], stones, coins [EXCEPT munt (f.), coin; guinje (f.), guinea; pistool (f.), pistole; pond (n.), pound], and mountains.

- (d) nouns of one syllable indicating motion or action, as houw, stab; greep, grasp, &c. Such words are feminine when they indicate objects having any relation to the action; for instance, trap (m.), kick; trap (f.), staircase.
- (e) nouns ending in -aar, -aard, -enaar, -erd, -enier, -el, -em, -sem, -lm, -rm, -er, and most words ending in -en, as
- |                             |                            |                              |
|-----------------------------|----------------------------|------------------------------|
| lessenaar , desk     | kruidenier , grocer | halm , stalk          |
| luiwaard , sluggard  | beitel , chisel     | storm , storm         |
| geweldenaar , tyrant | adem , breath       | looper , stair-carpet |
| mosterd , mustard    | bloesem , blossom   | regen , rain.         |
- EXCEPTIONS: Griffel (f.), slate pencil; schoffel (f.), hoe; scherm (n.), screen; palm (f.), palm of the hand; uniform (f.), uniform; helm (f.), broom.
- (f) all words ending in -ing and -ling (when not derived from verbs), as ketting, chain; krakeling, cracknel.
- (g) nouns ending in -dom, when denoting a state, as wasdom, growth.

For EXCEPTIONS see under Neuter (g).

Feminine are:—

- (a) Names of females (when there is a separate name for the female), flowers, vegetables, fruits, grains, foreign products, materials (when not neuter), ships (EXCEPT those ending in -er), letters of the alphabet, ciphers, figures, musical notes, intervals, and foreign instruments [EXCEPT doedelzak (m.), hoorn (m.), triangel (m.)]

NOTE.—1. Names of flowers formed from names of other things take the gender of the latter, as goudenregen (m.), aronskelk (m.)

2. Names of fruits ending in oen, ling, el, and er are masculine; e.g., citroen (m.), pippeling (m.), eikel (m.), aker (m.)

3. Foreign names of fruits ending in el and er are feminine; e.g., komkommer (f.), amandel (f.)

- (b) nouns ending in -e, -de, -te, denoting inanimate objects, as koude, cold; hoogte, height.

EXCEPTIONS: Vrede (m.), peace; einde (n.), end; and the collective nouns ending in -te, which are Neuter.

- (c) nouns formed with the suffixes -heid, -nis, -teit, as goedheid, goodness; beeltenis, image; majesteit, majesty.

EXCEPT Vonnis (n.), sentence; getuigenis (n.), testimony; concilie (n.), council; evangelie (n.), gospel.

- (d) all nouns ending in -ie, -iek, -age, -ij, -ei, and -uw, as melodie, melody; slijtage, wear and tear; lei, slate; fabriek, manufactory; schilderij, painting; schaduw, shade.

- (e) Verbal nouns in -ing, -st, and -t, as belooning, reward; kunst, art; vaart, canal.

EXCEPT Dienst (m.), service; last (m.), load; schrift (n.), writing [Schrift (f.) is (Holy) Scripture]; wicht (n.), weight.

- (f) Words in -schap, when denoting a state or a collection, that are not neuter [see (h) under Neuter], as blijdschap, joy; verwantschap, relation.

Neuter are:—

- (a) The names of young animals, and those that indicate a whole class, as kalf, calf; zwijn, swine [EXCEPT Hond (m.), dog].

- (b) Collective nouns, as leger, army; volk, people.

EXCEPTIONS: Stad (f.), town; trits (f.), threes.

- (c) The names of materials from which objects are manufactured, as barnsteen, amber; goud, gold.

EXCEPTIONS: Materials which are feminine, and the following masculine nouns:—

azijn , vinegar	inkt , ink	room , cream
honig , honey	mosterd , mustard	wijn , wine.

- (d) The infinitive mood of verbs, and all parts of speech used as nouns, as het schoone, the beautiful [EXCEPT adjectives used as names of persons].

- (e) The names of countries, towns, and villages.

EXCEPTIONS: Geographical names which are preceded by the article de are Feminine, as de dorre Sahara, the barren Sahara [EXCEPT Den Haag, the Hague; e.g., het bloeiende Den Haag, the prosperous Hague].

- (f) The names of diminutives, as het kindje, the little child.

- (g) Words ending in -dom, when denoting a collection or a country, as vorstendom, principality.

EXCEPTIONS: See under Masculine (g).

- (h) Words ending in -schap, when expressing a dignity, occupation, or territory, as koningschap, royalty.

EXCEPTIONS: See under Feminine (f).

- (i) All words ending in -sel, as blauwsel, blue [EXCEPT Stijfsel, starch].

- (j) Nouns formed from the stem of a verb with the inseparable prefixes be-, ge-, onder-, ont-, ver-.

EXCEPTIONS: Ontvang (m.), reception; verkoop (m.), sale; verbouw (m.), growth.

NOTE.—1. Compound nouns have the gender of the principal word, as hofkerk (f.), Court chapel [EXCEPT kerkhof (n.), graveyard, derived from hof (m.), garden; tijdslip (n.), epoch].

2. There are some nouns which have different genders, with different meanings, as helm (m.), helmet, helm (f.), plant;

blik (m.), look, blik (n.), dustpan; and many others.

DECLENSION OF NOUNS.

There are two declensions, termed the Strong and the Weak.

Most nouns belong to the Strong, the Genitive ending in s. Those belonging to the Weak end in en in the Genitive.

GENERAL RULES.—1. Feminine nouns always remain unchanged throughout the singular, and their declension is indicated only by the article or pronoun.

EXCEPTIONS: Family and proper names in the Genitive preceding another noun take s or 's, as moeders verjaardag, mother's birthday; Maria's boeken, Mary's books.

Should a pronoun or an adjective precede such expressions, the nominative is used, as mijn moeders verjaardag, my mother's birthday.

2. Masculine and Neuter nouns form their Genitive Singular in [e]s (Strong declension), or in [e]n (Weak declension).

The following Masculine nouns belong to the Weak declension:

mensch, man    vorst, prince    paus, pope    heer, lord

graaf, count    hertog, earl    prins, prince    profeet, prophet;

also the Neuter noun hart, heart, and all Adjectives used as masculine and neuter Nouns and ending in e, as het goede, the good.

NOTE.—The Genitive and Dative are very seldom used in speaking Dutch; in their place the Accusative is used, with the prepositions van, of, and aan, to, as van den vader, of the father, instead of des vaders.

3. The Accusative always has the same form as the Nominative, and the Dative generally has also.

Formation of Plural.

The plural of nouns is formed by adding n, en, or s in the four cases, and is the same in all genders.

1. Nouns ending in el, em, en, er, aar, ier, aard, erd, age, and in a LONG VOWEL take s, as also all diminutives. Words borrowed from foreign languages take s, as bureaus. The Dutch words ra, vla, and eega, ending in a long vowel, are in the plural raas, wheels; vlaas, custards; eegaas, spouses.

2. Nouns ending in e take n. Words ending in ie take s or n when the accent is not on ie, as provincies or provinciën. They take en when ie has the accent; e.g., melodieën. Words ending in ee take en, as zee—zeeën.

3. All nouns ending in a hissing sound or in a diphthong take en, as huis (house), huizen, bakkerij (bakery), bakkerijen; ALSO those ending in and, dom, eel, in, ing, ik, rik, schap, uw.

Words ending in or take s or en, as professors or professoren. Words ending in ier and eur take s when they denote persons, and en when they denote things, as portiers, door-keepers; portieren, coach-doors.

Some words take either, as zoons or zonen, sons; smids or smeden, smiths; gemaals or gemalen, husbands.

4. When the final consonant of a noun is preceded by a short vowel, the consonant is doubled in the plural, as rat (f.), rat—pl.

ratten; EXCEPT when the short vowel of the singular changes into a long vowel in the plural, as weg (m.), road—pl. wegen.

5. The final s in many nouns is changed into z, and the final f into v. This is always the case when these consonants are preceded by a long vowel, as haas (m.), hare—pl. hazen; wolf (m.), wolf—pl. wolven.

6. Nouns ending in man and denoting a profession, change this into lieden in the plural, as werkman (m.), workman—pl. werklieden; Oranjeman, Noorman, blindeman, as not denoting a profession, are in the plural Oranjemannen, Noormannen, blindemannen; and those ending in heid change into heden, as schoonheid (f.), beauty—pl. schoonheden.

7. Some nouns change their root vowel in the plural, as schip (n.), ship—pl. schepen; stad, town—pl. steden.

8. There are many nouns having no plural, as in English, whilst others are used only in the plural; thus,

(a) Names of materials and most abstract nouns have no plural in Dutch.

(b) Nouns denoting measure, weight, and number are used in the Singular, although accompanied by plural numerals, as tien voet lang, NOT tien voeten lang; but wichtjes, maatjes, rijksdaalers, stuivers, kwartjes, cents.

Hij heeft een inkomen van duizend gulden (collectively).

He has an income of a thousand guilders.

Ik heb hier drie guldens (singly).

I have three guilders here.

NOTE.—1. Some Neuter nouns take er before the plural-ending, and a few take er-en as well as er-s, as ei (sing.), eieren (pl.); hoen (sing.), hoenders or hoenders (pl.) The plural in eren is more sublime than that in ers. Ex., Hier zijn drie appels (Here are three apples). Mijn woorden waren als gouden appels in zilveren schalen (Prov. xxv. 11).

2. The plural of vloot (f.), flea, is vlooien, and of koes (f.), cow, koaien.

Examples of Declension.

De vader, the father; de moeder, the mother; het kind, the child.

	Singular.
Mas.	Fem.	Neut.
N. de vader	de moeder	het kind
G. des vaders	der moeder	des kinds
D. den vader	de moeder	het kind
A. den vader	de moeder	het kind .
	Plural.
N. de vaders	de moeders	de kinderen
G. der vaders	der moeders	der kinderen
D. den vaders	den moeders	den kinderen
A. de vaders	de moeders	de kinderen .

STRONG DECLENSION.

Een mond, a mouth; een vrouw, a wife; een veld, a field.

Singular.

Mas.	Fem.	Neut.
N. een mond	eene vrouw	een veld
G. eens monds	eene vrouw	eens velds
D. een (en) mond	eener (eene) vrouw	een veld
A. een (en) mond	eene vrouw	een veld.

Plural.

N. monden	vrouwen	velden
G. monden	vrouwen	velden
D. monden	vrouwen	velden
A. monden	vrouwen	velden.

WEAK DECLENSION.

Singular.

Mas.	Neut.
N. de bode , the messenger	het hart , the heart
G. des boden	des harten
D. den bode	het hart
A. den bode	het hart.

Plural.

N. de boden , the messengers	de harten , the hearts
G. der boden	der harten
D. den boden	den harten
A. de boden	de harten.

The Adjective. (Het bijvoeglijk Naamwoord.)

For list of Adjectives, see pp. 57 to 60; Numerals, 54 to 57.

The Adjective may be used as an attribute, as de goede man, the good man, or as a predicate, as de man is goed, the man is good.

When used as a predicate and placed after a noun it is not declined, but retains the same form in all genders and numbers.

As an attribute an adjective is declined as follows:—

De goede man, the good man;      de goede vrouw, the good woman;      het goede kind, the good child.

Singular.

Mas.	Fem.	Neut.
N. de goede man	de goede vrouw	het goede kind
G. des goeden mans	der goede vrouw	des goeden kinds
D. den goeden man	de goede vrouw	het goede kind
A. den goeden man	de goede vrouw	het goede kind.

Plural.

N. de goede mannen	de goede vrouwen	de goede kinderen
G. der goede mannen	der goede vrouwen	der goede kinderen
D. den goeden mannen	den goeden vrouwen	den goeden kinderen
A. de goede mannen	de goede vrouwen	de goede kinderen.

NOTE.—1. Instead of the masculine and feminine genitive, van is generally used, as van den blinde (m.), of a blind man; van de blinde (f.), of a blind woman. In the neuter genitive van is always used, as van het goede.

2. If an article or a pronoun (not a personal pronoun) precedes, the adjective always has (en) when the article or pronoun ends in s or n.

3. Adjectives not preceded by any word, or preceded by a word with indefinite signification, are not declined in the nominative and accusative neuter, as ieder nieuw huis, each new house.

4. The Superlatives and the Ordinal Numbers take e. Adjectives preceding Masculine nouns drop the ending e in the nominative, dative, and accusative, if they are used with een and if the quality refers to the profession, as een groote man, a tall man; een groot man, a great man.

The following Adjectives are not declined:—

- (a) Those ending in er, and derived from geographical names.
- (b) All adjectives of material ending in en; but those ending in sch, like lakensch, duffelsch, and neteldoetsch, are declined.
- (c) Those ending in en.
- (d) The adjectives rechter and linker.
- (e) All adjectives used as predicates or placed after the noun; e.g., God is goed, God Almachtig. Also in phrases like Zoo groot eene opoffering, so great a sacrifice.
- (f) The comparatives, especially those of two, or more than two, syllables, as dapperder mannen, braver men; uitvoeriger berichten, more detailed pieces of information.

Comparison of Adjectives.

There are three degrees of comparison—the Positive, the Comparative, and the Superlative.

1. The Positive has no inflectional termination.
2. The Comparative is formed by adding er to the Positive; r only is added when the adjective ends in e.

NOTE.—1. For the sake of euphony Positives ending in r take d before er, as zwaar, heavy; zwaarder, heavier.

2. The Comparison of Equality is expressed by zoo...als, or even (even-zoo)...als, (just) as...as; e.g.,

Ik ben zoo groot als hij, I am as tall as he.
Hij is even (zoo) vergenoegd als wij, He is (just) as contented as we.

3. The Comparison of Superiority is expressed by meer...dan, more...than, or eerder...dan, rather than, or by the comparative only, followed by dan; e.g.,

Hij is meer handig dan geleerd, He is more clever than learned.
Deze leerling is eerder vlug dan vlijtig, This pupil is quick rather than industrious.
Jan is grooter dan Piet, John is taller than Peter.

8. The Superlative is formed by adding st to the Positive, as groot, great; grootst, greatest.

NOTE.—1. If the Positive ends in e this letter is dropped, as blijde, gay; blijdst, gayest.

2. If the Positive ends in s or sch t only is added, as wijs, wise—wijst, wisest; frisch, fresh—frischt, freshest.

3. The Superlative of Eminence is usually expressed by an adverb preceding the Positive, as uiterst klein, extremely small; hoogst gelukkig, most happy.

4. The Superlative is preceded by het when the highest quality is predicated to an object under certain circumstances, as

De Schelde is het breedst in Zeeland, The river Scheldt is broadest in Zeeland.

Adjectives which do not admit of comparison are those of material; those denoting the acme of a quality and mathematical qualities; those ending in loos (such as vaderloos, fatherless); adjectives like bloedrood, blood-red, sneeuwit, snow-white, &c.; those which have an absolute signification, as rond, vierkant; also geographical adjectives.

Irregular Comparison.—The following form their degrees of comparison irregularly:—

goed , good	beter , better	best , best
weinig , little	minder , less	minst , least
veel , much	meer , more	meest , most
kwaad , bad	erger , worse	ergst , worst.

Some adjectives are used only attributively, as (1) those of material, time, and place, like dagelijksch, bovenste; (2) those denoting the place where someone lives, as Amsterdamsch; (3) those which indicate the manner in which something takes place, as eene mondelinge boodschap. Other adjectives are used only predicately. Such are: Bedacht, beducht, behept, bestand, bijster, kwijt, vars, handgemeen, leed.

The Pronoun. (Het Voornaamwoord.)

There are seven divisions of Pronouns:—

- |                   |                   |                   |
|-------------------|-------------------|-------------------|
| 1. Personal.      | 4. Interrogative. | 6. Indefinite.    |
| 2. Possessive.    | 5. Relative.      | 7. Determinative. |
| 3. Demonstrative. |                   |                   |

1. Personal Pronouns.

Singular.

1st per.	2nd per. Sing. & Plural.	M.	3rd person. F.	N.
N. Ik , I	{ gij ( ge ) jij ( je )	hij	zij ( ze )	het
G. mijns } of me ( mijner )	{ uws , uwer	{ zijns , zijner	{ haars , harer	{ zijns , zijner
D. mij , to me	u , jou ( je )	hem ( em , 'm)	haar	het
A. mij , me	u , jou ( je )	hem ( em , 'm)	haar ( ze , er )	het .

Plural.

1st per.	M.	3rd person. F.	N.
N. wij ( we )	zij ( ze )	zij ( ze )	zij ( ze )
G. ons , onzer	huns , hunner	haar , harer	huns , hunner
D. ons	hun , ze	haar ( er )	hun , ze
A. ons	hen , ze	haar ( ze , er )	hen , ze .

“Het” and its use.—The names of inanimate objects in Dutch being often masculine or feminine, the pronoun referring to them must take their gender; therefore the word it cannot always be rendered by het, as

Hebt gij mijn hoed (m.) gezien? Have you seen my hat?

Neen, ik heb hem niet gezien. No, I have not seen it.

Hebt gij mijn boek (n.)? Have you my book?

Ja, ik heb het. Yes, I have it.

The dative and accusative of het, when governed by prepositions, are always rendered by er, to which the preposition is appended. Het is often abbreviated to 't, as neem 't, take it.

NOTE.—1. In colloquial language ge, we, me, and ze are used instead of gij, wij, mij, and zij. In conversation U is used for the singular as well as for the plural, as

Wil U mij den weg wijzen? Will you please show me the way?

2. In writing, gij is used in addressing friends; in other cases U (uwe edelheid), with the verb in the 2nd person plural or 3rd person singular, as U hebt or U heeft.

3. The genitives mijns, ons, uws, zijns, haars, occur in connection with zelfs, or gelijke only, as

Hij en zijns gelijken, he and persons like himself.

Om haars zelfs wil, for her own sake.

4. To emphasize the personal pronouns, the word zelf (sing.), pl. zelve, is often added, as

Ik zelf heb het gezien, I have seen it myself.

Wij zelve hebben het gehoord, we have heard it ourselves.

5. The Personal pronouns are sometimes used instead of the Demonstrative, and often instead of the Correlative pronouns. (See p. 79.)

Reflexive and Reciprocal Pronouns.

The DATIVE and ACCUSATIVE of the personal pronouns are used as Reflexive Pronouns, the third person having the Reflexive form zich, which is used in the dative and accusative only for all genders, singular and plural.

Elkander (elkaar) and malkander (malkaar), each other, are Reciprocal Pronouns, and take s in the GENITIVE; the DATIVE and ACCUSATIVE having the same form as the Nominative, as wij zullen elkander schrijven, we shall write to each other.

2. Possessive Pronouns.

The Possessive Pronouns are: mijn, my; ons, our; uw, thy or your; zijn, his or its; hun, their; haar, her or their.

They are used with or without a noun, and declined in the former case like mijn (except ons, which has the form onze in the nominative singular masculine).

	Singular.			Plural
	M.	F.	N.	(all genders).
N.	mijn	mijne	mijn	mijne
G.	mijns	mijner	mijns	mijner
D.	mijn(en)	mijne	mijn(en)	mijnen
A.	mijn(en)	mijne	mijn	mijne .

NOTE.—Instead of mijne and mijnen, mijn is often used, as Ik roep mijn broeder, I call my brother; and mijne is commonly pronounced as mijn.

When used substantively and preceded by an article, they are declined as follows:—

		Singular.		Plural
		M.	F.	N.	(all genders).
N.	de mijne	de mijne	het mijne	de mijne	de mijne
G.	des mijnen	der mijne	van het mijne	der mijne	der mijne
D.	den mijnen	de mijne	het mijne	den mijnen	den mijnen
A.	den mijnen	de mijne	het mijne	de mijne	de mijne .

NOTE.—1. Mijnen, zijnen, uwen are used, when no noun precedes them, in the plural of relations, friends, &c., as

Groet de uwen, remember me to your people.

2. Often in Dutch the Definite Article is used when in English the possessive pronoun is used, as

De oude man schudde het hoofd, the old man shook his head.

3. Demonstrative Pronouns.

Demonstrative pronouns may be used substantively or adjectively. In the substantive form they are of the strong declension.

The articles dit, deze, this one, die or dat, gene, that, dezelfde, diezelfde, the same, are used substantively and adjectively. Zelve, self, is used adjectively only. Deze and die are inflected like the article de, dat like het.

Deze and die are declined as follows:—

		Singular.		Plural
		M.	F.	N.	(all genders).
N.	deze	deze	dit	deze	deze
G.	dezes	dezer	(dezes), van dit	dezer	dezer
D.	dezen	deze(r)	(dezen), dit	dezen	dezen
A.	dezen	deze	dit	deze	deze .

NOTE.—The genitive of deze, used substantively, is always paraphrased.

		Singular.		Plural
		M.	F.	N.	(all genders).
N.	die	die	dat	die	die
G.	diens	dier	(diens), van dat	dier	dier
D.	dien	die(r)	(dien), dat	dien	dien
A.	dien	die	dat	die	die .

Gene is inflected like deze, but has no singular form for the Nominative, for which gindsch is used:—gindsch huis, that house (yonder); gene huizen, those houses (yonder). The Genitive is paraphrased by van, the Dative by aan, which is also used with dit and dat, as van dien, van die, van dat, and van die, instead of the Genitives diens, dier, &c.

Dezelfde, hetzelfde, diezelfde, datzelfde, used adjectively, are inflected as an adjective preceded by an article. When used substantively, they are declined like an adjective used substantively:—

		Singular.		Plural
		M.	F.	N.	(all genders).
N.	dezelfde	dezelfde	hetzelfde	} or 'tzelfde	dezelfde
G.	dezelfden	derzelfde	—		derzelfde
D.	denzelfde	dezelfde	hetzelfde		denzelfde
A.	denzelfde	dezelfde	hetzelfde		dezelfde .

Degene has no Genitive form for the neuter. For the Nominative singular datgene is used. In the other cases it is declined like an adjective used substantively.

Zelve is placed after substantives and personal pronouns to strengthen their signification. The word zelf may be used invariably, as ik zelf, I myself. When it is declined, zelf is inflected as an adjective used substantively, but it has no Genitive form.

	Singular.		Plural
	M.	F.	(all genders).
N. zelf		zelve	zelve
D. zelven		zelve	zelven
A. zelven		zelve	zelve .

Sometimes a personal pronoun is used instead of a demonstrative, as

Kent gij dien officier? Do you know that officer?

Neen hem niet, wel den andere. No; not that one, but the other.

Correlative Pronouns.—The Demonstrative Pronouns degene, &c., when connected with a Relative Pronoun, are termed CORRELATIVE PRONOUNS. They are: degene, die or die, welke, wie, dat, wat, datgene, hetgeen, and the Personal Pronouns hij, zij.

4. Interrogative Pronouns.

There are four Interrogative Pronouns:—

Wie? (m. & f.) who? applies to persons, and is always used substantively.

Wat? (n.) what? is used substantively and adjectively, and applies to inanimate objects. It is only used in the Nominative and Accusative singular. In the other cases it is paraphrased by a preposition with the adverb waar; i.e., instead of van wat, aan wat, in wat, &c., waarvan, waaraan, waarin. &c., are used.

Welk(e)?—which? applies to persons and objects, used adjectively, and declined like a Possessive Pronoun. The genitive is paraphrased by van (see under). The strong undeclined form Welk? is used in the nominative and accusative singular of the masculine when one asks after a person in his dignity or profession. The weak form welke? (Acc., welken?) asks after the name of a person.

Hoedanige?—what kind of? This is somewhat obsolete, and the combination of wat voor een? (een only being declined) is frequently used, as Wat voor een man is hij?—what sort of man is he?—instead of Hoedanig een man is hij?

The Interrogatives are declined as follows:—

	Singular.		Plural.	Singular.
	M.	F.	(both genders).	N.
N. Who?	wie?	wie?	wie?	What? wat?
G. of whom?	wiens?	(wier?)	wier?	of what? waarvan?
D. whom?	wien?	wie?	wien?	to what? waaraan?
A. whom?	wien?	wie?	wie?	what? wat?

	Singular.			Plural
	M.	F.	N.	(all genders).
N. Which?	welk(e)?	welke?	welk?	welke?
G. of which?	van welken?	van welke?	van welk?	van welke?
D. to which?	welken?	welke?	welk?	welken?
A. which?	welken?	welke?	welk?	welke?

Examples:—

Welken (m.) man bedoelt gij? Which man do you mean?

Welke (n.) boeken hebt gij gekocht? Which books did you buy?

The English interrogation, "What is your name?" is sometimes rendered in Dutch by Hoe heet gij?

Instead of welk, wat voor een (or simply wat) can be used:—

Wat man zou dat doen?

5. Relative Pronouns.

The Relative Pronouns are die, who; dat, that; welk, which; and must agree with their antecedents in gender, number, and person. Die is declined thus:—

	Singular.			Plural.
	M.	F.	N.	(all genders).
N. Who	die	die	dat	die
G. of whom	wiens	wier	waarvan	wier
D. to whom	wien	wie	dat	wien
A. whom	dien, wien	die, wie	dat	die, wie.

In the accusative wien and wie are used with a preposition only, in all other cases die and dat, as

De heer met wien, de dame The gentleman with whom, the lady with whom I travelled.
met wie ik reisde.

In speaking of a woman, welke is sometimes used instead of die, as Het is die, welke ik zocht, it is she whom I was looking for.

The genitive masculine welks seldom refers to persons. The nominative and accusative is welk when used adjectively.

The Relative Pronoun can never be omitted in Dutch, as is done in English.

De vriendin die ik liefheb. The friend (whom) I love.

6. Indefinite Pronouns.

The principal Indefinite Pronouns are:—

**men*, one, they, people.

**iemand* (takes s in the genitive), someone, somebody.

**niemand* (takes s in the genitive), no one, nobody.

**iets*, something, anything; **niets*, nothing; een, one;

geen, none; zeker, certain (only used adjectivally);

**een iegelijk, iedereen, elkeen* or een ieder, everybody, everyone.

**elkander* or malkander, each other, one another (may take s in the genitive).

The following are sometimes used as nouns, when referring only to persons, in which case they take n in the nominative, dative, and accusative cases:—

alle, all; sommige, some; eenige, some;
vele, many; weinige, few; ettelijke, sundry.

NOTE.—1, Pronouns marked * may only be used substantively.

2. Ieder, elk, everyone, everybody, can be used substantively or adjectivally.

3. Iedereen and elkeen are invariable.

4. Een iegelijk, een ieder, ieder, and elk have no plural, and in the Genitive singular take s when used substantively.

Numerals. (Telwoorden.)

The Numerals, most of which are a special kind of adjective, are divided into several classes.

Cardinal Numbers (see page 54) denote simple numbers, as een, twee, &c.

NOTE.—1. Een and the negation geen, when joined to a noun, are declined like the Indefinite Article.

2. Beide, both, is declined like the Definite Article; if preceded by a defining word it is declined like an Adjective.

3. Millioen, billioen, trillioen, milliard are Neuter substantives, plural with en.

4. Honderd and duizend, when not preceded or followed by a numeral, are also substantives; plural en.

5. The real Cardinal Numbers are indeclinable, except when used substantively, as twee vieren, two fours.

6. Honderd, if preceded by another numeral, is written with the preceding number in one word, as tweehonderd; but not duizend, as vier duizend.

Ordinal Numbers (see page 55) denote numbers as forming parts of a series, and are formed from the Cardinals by adding de from 2–19, and ste from 20 upwards.

EXCEPTIONS: Eerste, achtste. Instead of driede, derde is used.

The Ordinals are declined like adjectives.

NOTE.—1. When referring to two persons or objects, "the former" and "the latter" are translated by de eerste and de laatste, respectively, or deze and gene.

2. The DATE is translated thus: De twee en twintigste April, the 22nd of April.

3. DISTINCTIVES are formed from the Ordinals by prefixing the word ten, as ten derde, thirdly.

4. MULTIPLICATIVES are formed by adding voud to the Cardinal numbers, as tweevoud, twofold, and are used substantively only. To form an adjective or an adverb from these words, ig must be added, as tweevoudig.

5. NUMBERS OF REPETITION are adverbs which are formed by adding maal, keer, or werf to the Cardinal numbers, as eenmaal, once; tweekeer, twice; driewerf, thrice, &c.

6. FRACTIONAL NUMBERS are formed by the suffix de, EXCEPT half, half (one-half, een half), as een derde, one-third; een vierde, one-fourth. When half is used as an adjective, it is placed after the article, as een half uur, half-an-hour.

The other tenses are wanting.

The Dutch past participle must always be placed at the end in sentences with compound tenses:—Hij is koning geweest, he has been king.

The auxiliary verb of compound tenses comes last when, in dependent clauses, the verb is placed at the end of the clause:—Ik geloof, dat hij hier geweest is, I believe he has been here.

In compound tenses the participle or adjective must be placed directly after the verb, as Hij is gestraft geworden, he has been punished.

The intransitive verb worden, to become, is conjugated in the same manner as worden, to be.

CONJUGATION OF VERBS.

Dutch Regular Verbs are divided into Weak and Strong.

Past Participle.—Weak Verbs have no vowel change, their past participle being formed by adding d or t to the root, and that of Strong Verbs by adding en to the root.

The Infinitive of all verbs is formed by adding en to the root.

The 1st person of Present Indicative is the stem of the verb.

NOTE.—1. When the root ends in a double consonant, both consonants are written before e alone; in all other cases only one is written.

2. The 1st person singular has the same form as the root.

3. The 2nd person in all tenses of a verb always ends in t.

4. The 1st and 3rd person plural always end in en.

5. The 3rd person Present Indicative always ends in t. Exceptions:—hij kan, he can; hij zal, he will; he will, he wants; hij is, he is; hij mag, he may.

6. The past participle takes ge, except with verbs which begin with the prefixes be, ge, er, her, ont, and ver, when they are inseparably compounded with an adverb. The root of the verb then has the accent.

Weak Verbs.

All weak verbs form the Imperfect Indicative by adding de to the root, and the Past Participle by adding d.

When the root ends in ch, f, k, p, t, s, sch, d and de change into t and te.

Should the root end in d or t, no extra d or t is added in the past participle:—dooden (to kill), gedood—but doodde; praten (to talk), gepraat—but praatte.

When the final consonant of the root is s or f, it changes into z or v in the infinitive, as:

vreezen, to fear; root vrees (not vreez).

leven, to live; „ leef (not leev).

The 3rd person singular of the Imperfect Indicative has the same form as the 1st.

The 1st and 3rd person plural are formed by adding den or ten to the root.

ANTWOORDEN, to answer.

Infinitive Present.	Perfect.
antwoorden , to answer.	geantwoord hebben , to have answered.

Present Participle.	Past Participle.
antwoordende , answering.	geantwoord , answered.

Indicative Mood.

Present.	Imperfect.	Perfect.
ik antwoord ,	ik antwoordde ,	ik heb geantwoord ,
I answer	I answered	I have answered
hij antwoordt	hij antwoordde	hij heeft
wij antwoorden	wij antwoordden	wij hebben } geantwoord .
gij antwoordt	gij antwoorddet	gij hebt
zij antwoorden .	zij antwoordden .	zij hebben

Pluperfect.	Future Indefinite.	Future Perfect.
ik had geantwoord ,	ik zal antwoorden ,	ik zal geantwoord hebben ,
I had answered.	I shall answer.	I shall have answered.

Pres. Conditional.	Past Conditional.
ik zou(de) antwoorden ,	ik zoude geantwoord hebben ,
I should answer.	I should have answered.

Subjunctive Mood.

Present.	Imperfect.
ik antwoorde ,	ik antwoordde ,
that I may answer	that I might answer
hij antwoorde	hij antwoordde
wij antwoorden	wij antwoordden
gij antwoord(e)t	gij antwoorddet
zij antwoorden .	zij antwoorden .
Perfect.	Pluperfect.
ik hebbe geantwoord ,	ik hadde geantwoord ,
that I may have answered.	that I might have answered.
Pres. Conditional.	Past Conditional.
ik zoude antwoorden ,	ik zoude geantwoord hebben ,
that I should answer.	that I should have answered.

Imperative Mood.

Sing., antwoord! answer (thou)!	Pl., antwoordt! answer (you)!
--	--------------------------------------

The Negative form is like that of English auxiliary verbs:—
ik antwoord niet, I do not answer.

The Interrogative form corresponds also to that of English auxiliaries:—

antwoord ik? do I answer?

The Negative-Interrogative form:—

antwoord ik niet? do I not answer?

Strong Verbs.

A strong verb forms its past tense by a change in the radical vowel without any termination, and the past participle by the termination en and sometimes by a change of the radical vowel, as geven, to give; gaf, gave; gegeven, given. stelen, to steal; stal, stolen; gestolen, stolen.

As will be seen, the personal endings in the strong conjugation are the same as those of the weak.

In conjugating a strong verb, the Infinitive, the singular of the Imperfect Indicative, and the Past Participle must be known. All other tenses are formed like those of a weak verb, with the exception of the Imperfect Subjunctive, which is formed from the plural of the Imperfect Indicative, as wij gaven, ik (hij) gave.

The 3rd person plural Imperfect Subjunctive and Imperfect Indicative are alike.

GEVEN, to give.

Indicative Mood.

Present.	Imperfect.	Perfect.
ik geef , I give	ik gaf , I gave	ik heb gegeven , I have
hij geeft	hij gaf	hij heeft } [given
wij geven	wij gaven	wij hebben } gegeven .
gij geeft	gij gaaf	gij hebt
zij geven .	zij gaven .	zij hebben
Pluperfect.	Future Indefinite.	Future Perfect.
ik had gegeven ,	ik zal geven ,	ik zal gegeven hebben ,
I had given.	I shall give.	I shall have given.

Pres. Conditional.
ik zou(de) geven,
 I should give.

Past Conditional.
ik zou(de) gegeven hebben,
 I should have given.

Subjunctive Mood.

Present.
ik geve, (that) I may give.

Imperfect.
ik gave, (that) I might give.

Perfect.
ik hebbe gegeven,
 (that) I may have given.

Pluperfect.
ik hadde gegeven,
 (that) I might have given.

Pres. Conditional.
ik zoude geven,
 (that) I should give.

Past Conditional.
ik zoude gegeven hebben.
 (that) I should have given.

Imperative Mood.

Sing., geef! give (thou)!

Pl., geeft! give (you)!

Classes of Strong Verbs.

The strong verbs may be divided into seven classes, according to the vowel change. When these changes are known the conjugation is like that of a weak verb, and presents no difficulty.

1ST CLASS.

The verbs of the first class have in the present tense e or i, followed by l, m, n, or r with another consonant; this second consonant may be the same as the first, or may be different. In the singular and plural of the Imperfect and in the Past Participle they have short o. Ex. :—

Infinitive.	Imperfect.	Past Part.
beginnen , to begin	... begon ...	... begonnen
bergen , to hide	... borg ...	... geborgen .

N.B.—The verbs helpen (to help), bederven (to spoil), sterven (to die), werven (to throw), werven (to recruit), and zwerfen (to wander) change o into ie in the Imperfect; thus—

bederven	... ..	... bedierf	... ..	bedorven .
-----------------	--------	--------------------	--------	-------------------

2ND CLASS.

The verbs of this class have in the present tense a long e, followed by a liquid consonant or by k. The singular of the Imperfect has a short a, the plural a long a, the Past Participle a long o. Ex. :—

bevelen , to order	... ..	beval	... ..	bevolen .
---------------------------	--------	--------------	--------	------------------

The following deviate from the vowel-change in this class :—

komen , to come	... ..	kwam	... ..	gekomen
zweren , to swear	... ..	zwoor	... ..	gezwooren
scheren , to shave	... ..	schoor	... ..	geschoren .

3RD CLASS.

In this class the verbs have in the present tense and in the Past Participle a long e, followed by a single consonant (except l, m, n, r, and k), in the singular of the Imperfect a short a, and in the plural of the Imperfect a long a. Ex. :—

lezen , to read	... ..	las	... ..	gelezen
geven , to give	... ..	gaf	... ..	gegeven .

N.B.—Bidden (to pray), liggen (to lie), and zitten (to sit) have i instead of e in the Infinitive Mood and in the present tense.

4TH CLASS.

Verbs of this class have in the present tense ij, in the Imperfect ee, and in the Past Participle e. Ex. :—

belijden , to confess	... ..	beleed	... ..	beleden
bezwijken , to succumb	... ..	bezweek	... ..	bezweken
bijten , to bite	... ..	beet	... ..	gebeten .

(Aan)tijgen, to impute; bezwijmen, to swoon; grijnen, to fret; hijgen, to pant; krijnschen, to shriek; stijven, to encourage; prijzen, to state a price, are weak. Krijgen, to get; stijven, to make stiff (e.g., linen); and prijzen, to praise, are strong.

5TH CLASS.

Verbs in this class have in the present tense ie or ui, in the singular of the Imperfect oo, in the plural of the Imperfect and in the Past Participle o. Ex. :—

bedriegen , to cheat	...	...	bedroog	...	...	bedrogen
bieden , to offer	...	...	bood	...	...	geboden .
buigen , to bend	...	...	boog	...	...	gebogen .

6TH CLASS.

The verbs of this class have in the present tense and in the Past Participle a long a, and in the Imperfect singular and plural oe. Ex. :—

dragen , to carry	...	...	droeg	...	...	gedragen
graven , to dig	...	...	groef	...	...	gegraven .

Lachen, to laugh, has a weak Imperfect, as also laden, to load (Imp. laadde), and malen, to grind (Imp. maalde).

7TH CLASS.

In this class the verbs have the same vowel in the present tense and in the Past Participle. In the Imperfect, a short or long i (i, ie). Ex. :—

blazen , to blow	...	...	blies	...	...	geblazen
braden , to roast	...	...	braadde	...	...	gebraden .

Compound Verbs.

Verbs are compounded with certain prefixes, which are either separable or inseparable from the verbs.

Inseparable when the verb is compounded with a substantive, another verb (in which case the first verb drops the n), an adjective, or one of the adverbs door, mis, om, onder, over, voor, which are not accented and do not take ge in the Past Participle. Ex.:—

liefkoozen, to caress—Past Participle, geliefkoozd;
handhaven, to maintain—gehandhaafd.

These compounds are all weak, even if the verb itself should be strong and take ge in the Past Participle.

Verbs compounded with the adjective vol (full) are inseparable, and do not take ge in the Past Participle, as Het is volbracht, it is finished.

Separable applies to compound verbs of which each part may be used in its original signification. These verbs are compounded with a substantive, an adjective, or an adverb. The last have the accent on the adverb. The verb has its proper conjugation, and the prefix ge is placed before the verb, as:—

paardrijden, to ride on horseback;
ik rijd paard; ik reed paard; ik heb paardgereden.

Verbs compounded with the inseparable prefixes be, ge, er, her, ont, and ver do not take ge in the Past Participle, as:—

behouden, to retain—Past Part., behouden;
gelooven, to believe—geloofd;
erkennen, to acknowledge—erkend;
herinneren, to remember—herinnerd;
onthouden, to remember—onthouden;
verbranden, to burn—verbrand.

Compound verbs with the prefixes door, mis, om, onder, over, voor, and weder are either separable or inseparable.

(a) When these prefixes, and the simple verbs united with them, are used in their full and original meaning, the compound verbs are separable; in this case the prefix takes the accent.

(b) When these prefixes have lost their original meaning, the verbs are inseparable and the verb takes the accent.

Thus:—De reiziger heeft den geheelen nacht door'-gereisd.

The traveller has travelled all night.

De reiziger heeft het geheele continent door-reisd'.

The traveller has travelled through the whole country.

When the clause is a principal sentence and the verb is in a simple tense the prefix is placed at the end, as Ga met mij uit, go out with me. When beginning with a Relative Pronoun or a subordinating conjunction, the prefix keeps its place before the verb, the verb being placed at the end, as:—

Ik wou wilde, dat hij terugkwam. I wish he would return.

Reflective Verbs.

Reflective Verbs are frequent in Dutch, and besides their subject they always take a Reflective Pronoun of the same person and number as their subject, the pronoun usually being in the Accusative, as Ik herinner mij, I remember.

NOTE.—1. Some verbs take the Reflective Pronoun in the Dative, as
Hij geeft zich moeite, he gives himself trouble.

2. Some Reflective Verbs are rendered in English by a Passive Verb, as zich schamen over, to be ashamed of; zich vergissen, to be mistaken.

3. Some verbs reflective in Dutch are not so in English, as zich aannemen, to assume; zich baden, to bathe.

All Reflective Verbs are conjugated with the assistance of the auxiliary hebben, as Ik heb mij herinnerd, I have remembered.

Impersonal Verbs.

Impersonal Verbs are conjugated only in the 3rd person singular with the neuter pronoun het.

There are some verbs—as heugen, to remember, spijten, to be sorry—which only seem to be impersonal, but which really are personal. When one says Het spijt mij, dat gij ziek zijt, the real subject is dat gij ziek zijt, and het is only the substituting subject.

GENERAL NOTES ON THE VERBS.

A verb always agrees with its subject in number and person.

The conjugation in English by the Present Participle with the Auxiliary Verb to be is not used in Dutch; hence “I read,” “I am reading.” are rendered in Dutch by Ik lees.

In like manner, the conjugation which, in all its tenses, represents a future action does not exist in Dutch; so that such a phrase as “I am about to write,” is translated Ik ga juist schrijven.

The Gerund (as erring, reading, writing) is rendered in Dutch by the Infinitive used as a noun, as Dwalen is menscheijk, erring is human.

With Imperatives, and in negative interrogative sentences, the English auxiliary verb to do is not translated in Dutch. It can be rendered by toch in Imperatives, as Schrijf mij toch. Do write to me.

The use of the Infinitive differs in many respects from the English. If a verb is named, it does not take the particle te (to) as in English, but is simply rendered in Dutch thus: gaan, to go; lezen, to read, &c.

In some phrases the Infinitive takes the place of the Present Participle in English, as Ik zag hem loopen, I saw him running.

The particle te is used with the Infinitive when a purpose or intention is indicated, and strengthened by the addition of om, as

De mensch leeft niet om te eten, maar hij eet om te leven.
Man does not live to eat, but he eats to live.

Te is also used when the Infinitive expresses the object to which an action, &c., is directed, as Ik wensch hem te zien, I wish to see him.

Adverbs. (Bijwoorden.)

Adverbs are formed by adding lijk, lijks, lings, e, ens, s, jes, pjes, tjes, kens, gewijze, waarts to a noun or adjective, as

eigen , proper,	eigenlijk , properly ;
dag , day,	dagelijks , daily ;
kort , short,	kortelings , shortly ;
ver , far,	op verre na , by far ;
minst , least,	minstens , at least ;
recht , right,	rechts , to the right,
zoet , soft,	zoetjes , softly ;
warm , warm,	warmpjes , warmly ;
stil , silent,	stilletjes , silently ;
zacht , soft,	zachtkens , softly.
trap , degree,	trapsgewijze , by degrees.

Some adverbs, like adjectives, admit of comparison (see page 75), as Hij schrijft goed, zijn zuster beter, doch zijn broeder het best, he writes well, his sister better, but his brother best.

Some words ending in lijk are adjectives, and are used as adverbs without changing their form, such as eerlijk, honest ; heerlijk, delightful ; weekelijk, delicate, &c. Words ending in lijks are adverbs, those ending in lijksch are adjectives.

Several adverbs are formed from nouns by adding s, as links, on the left ; daags, by day.

Adverbs of manner or of time are always placed after the verb, as Hij leest nooit couranten, he never reads newspapers.

Adverbs of place are :—

af , downwards	heen en weer , to	thuis , at home
ergens , somewhere	and fro	ver far, far off
ginder, ginds ,	links , to the left	waar , where there, thither	na, nabij , near	wijd en zijd , far
heen, henen , away	op , upwards	and wide.

Adverbs of time are :—

aanstonds , directly	gedurig , continually
altijd, altoos, steeds , always	lang , long
dadelijk } immediately	ooit , ever
terstond } immediately	voorheen } formerly.
doorgaans , generally	vroeger }

(For list see pp. 64-68.)

Conjunctions. (Voegwoorden.)

Conjunctions have great influence upon the position of the verb. They are divided into three classes: CO-ORDINATE, SUBORDINATE, ADVERBIAL.

(a) Co-ordinate join words or sentences which are independent of each other ; they are en, and ; doch, but ; &c.

The following do not alter the construction :—En, and ; echter, but, however ; maar, but ; of, or ; want, for ; zoowel...als, both...and.

(b) Subordinate connect clauses and sentences, one of which is dependent on the other. SIMPLE as well as COMPOUND subordinate conjunctions relegate the verb to the end of the clause.

When the first clause of a compound sentence begins with a simple subordinate conjunction, then the principal second clause begins with the verb, and the subject follows it, as Voordat de slag begon, zongen de soldaten vroolijk. Before the battle began the soldiers sang merrily.

SIMPLE SUBORDINATES are:—

aangezien, daar, as, since; als, as, when; als of, as if; dat, that; eer, voordat, before; hoe, how; &c., &c.

CORRELATIVE SUBORDINATES are:—

aangenomen, gesteld, or verondersteld (dat), supposing (that); al...nog, even if; als...maar, provided (that); behalve...dat, besides; om...te, in order to; opdat...niet, lest; zonder...dat, without; zoo...dat, so that; &c., &c.

(c) Adverbial require the subject to follow the verb, instead of preceding it, as Buitendien had hij vele vrienden, besides he had many friends.

The following adverbial conjunctions are treated like adverbs, and require inversion of the clause:—

behalve , besides	du , thus
bijgevolg , consequently	echter, evenwel , however
bovendien, buitendien, besides, moreover	niet alleen...maar , not only
daarom , therefore	niet slechts...maar , but also
dientengevolge , accordingly	noch...noch, neither...nor
	of...of, either...or.

NOTE.—All interrogative adverbs have in indirect questions the force of Relative Conjunctions; the verb therefore requires to be placed at the end of the clause.

(For list see pp. 64–68.)

Prepositions. (Voorzetsels.)

All Prepositions govern the Accusative, with the exception of te, which, in some ancient expressions, takes the Dative after it, as Te goeder trouw, in good faith; te elfder ure, very late, almost too late; ten huize van, in the house of. In such cases also some other Prepositions govern the Dative, as In den beginne, in the beginning; van goeden huize, of gentle birth; bij monde van, by the words of; onder cede, upon oath; met dien verstande, under conditions; uit hoofde van, on account of. Nearly all Prepositions are used in the same way as adverbs.

(For Prepositions in general use see pp. 64–68.)

Interjections. (Tusschenwerpsels.)

Interjections express:—

IMITATIONS OF SOUNDS, such as Boem! plof! plomp! krik! krak! paf! paf! &c.

JOY and SURPRISE: ha! heisa! hoezee! vivat! he! hei! holla!

GRIEF and PAIN: ach! ai, ou! och! helaas! o wee!

DOUBT: ei! ei ei! wel! hm!

ABHORRENCE: aba! ba! foei!

NOTE.—Expressions such as lieve hemel! (good gracious!), goede hemel! (good heavens!), &c., are sometimes used as interjections, although they are whole sentences or substantives in the vocative.
